In summer 2016, Rebecca Bose ’98 studied the ecology of steppe ecosystems, with a focus on the Pallas’ cat, Przewalski’s horse and participatory conservation media in Mongolia. Rebecca, a curator at Wolf Conservation Center lives in North Salem, N.Y., and took the graduate course in pursuit of her master’s degree from Miami University’s Global Field Program.